

My Keyboard Lessons

Benjamin Green talks about setting up with 'My Keyboard Lessons'

I have been playing piano and keyboards since the age of 8 years. I gained musical qualifications and have played in various bands and always enjoy a challenge.

A friend of mine teaches guitar for extra income and I decided I would try to do the same by teaching piano and keyboards. I had no idea where to begin and did some internet research but the information I found was quite confusing and there seemed to be many aspects involved in setting up your own teaching business.

I found 'My Keyboard Lessons' on Google and it was just what I was looking for. I signed up for the Bronze service and received my own website, email address and certificate.

The training I received was brilliant and the guys at 'My Keyboard Lessons' are very helpful and friendly.

With in the first month of joining I received my first booking for lessons and as I had never taught a lesson before, I had no material ready so I quickly upgraded to their Silver service which is best move I made. I now have many lessons to hand and 'My Keyboard Lessons' unique marketing material including business cards, posters and postcards which look amazing.

Thanks guys for all your help so far.
